

Autos Would Carry $5 Tax Stickers for U. S. Defense To Help Raise 3½ Billions

Another proposal Sets Five Per Cent Tax on Transportation Fares Over 35 Cents

Liquor Boost Due

Liquor, Wines Are Hit, but Beer, Tobacco and Gasoline Let Alone

Washington, July 1 (P)—If the House ways and means committee has its way, every privately owned automobile in the United States will be wearing a $5 federal tax sticker to help raise the desired $3,500,000,000 of new revenue to finance the defense program.

The committee recommended this new annual levy late yesterday along with a lot of other excise taxes designed to produce about $733,000,000 of the additional revenue and Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) suggested that "sticker" receipts for the auto tax might be sold through postoffices.

Another committee recommendation likely to affect a broad section of the population was that a five per cent tax be imposed on all passenger transportation fares over 35 cents, whether by rail, water, air or bus.

The yield from the new excise levies, plus returns from increases previously recommended in individual income, corporation, excess profits, estate and gift taxes, would account for approximately $3,315,000,000 of the revenue sought.

As one means of raising the remaining money, the committee today looked for a way to tax soft drinks without increasing their retail prices.

Recommendations Other Taxes
Apart from the use tax on automobiles, yachts and airplanes, the committee tentatively recommended a seven per cent excise tax on the sale price of new automobiles which the treasury estimated would produce about $79,900,000. It was contended the tax also would help to reduce competition for the decreased output of pleasure cars and thus help offset inflationary effects of the defense spending program.

The committee agreed also on increasing the tax on liquor from $3 to $4 a gallon and boosted the tax on wines substantially. It refused, however, to raise the taxes on beer, tobacco or gasoline.

The long list of excise taxes given tentative approval included a five per cent levy on all telephone bills, 10 per cent on jewelry, watches and clocks, sporting goods, trunks and other luggage, phonographs and records, musical instruments, and photographic equipment.

Would Boost Refrigerators
The tax on refrigerators and air conditioning equipment and on radio sets and parts would be boosted from five and one-half per cent to 10 per cent. Bowling alleys would be taxed $15 annually for each alley and a similar amount would be levied on every pool and billiard table.

Action was deferred on proposals to tax furs 10 per cent of their retail price and the committee likewise set aside for future consideration taxation of parimutuels, slot machines, electric light bulbs and the production of gas except for industrial use.

The committee refused, Doughton said, to tax coffee, cocoa, tea, sugar, insurance premiums, the leasing of motion picture films and fuel oil used for motor fuel.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, July 1 (P)—The position of the treasury June 28: Receipts $13,366,743.56. Expenditures $53,026,395.20. Net balance $2,669,738,783.21. Working balance included $1,921,313,529.57. Customs receipts for month $36,087,022.42. Receipts for fiscal year (July 1) $7,574,312,979.86. Expenditures $12,603,989,377.50. Excess of expenditures $5,029,676,397.64. Gross debt $48,851,429,998.80. Increase over previous day $8,330,634.06. Gold assets $22,623,543,103.30.

Parades Canceled

West Point, N. Y., July 1 (P)—Effective next week the Wednesday afternoon parades by the military academy cadets will be canceled because of intensive training resulting from the national emergency. Brig. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, superintendent, announced today. Parades will be held at 4:30 (E.S.T.) daily, except Sunday, Wednesday and Saturday.

No Paper, Editor Says

Carlisle, Pa., July 1 (P)—"No paper this week," announced Editor James S. Magee of the Perry County Democrat, explaining: "Getting out a newspaper every week is an awful grind. We feel sure our subscribers will not be grudge at this week for rest and recreation."

California Has Quake

Southern Region Is Struck by Tremors and Damage in Santa Barbara Is Reported to Buildings

Los Angeles, July 1 (P)—A powerful rocking-chair earthquake swayed Southern California just before midnight last night, causing noticeable damage in the Santa Barbara area. Downtown plate-glass windows were shattered and bricks fell off the parapets of some buildings in Santa Barbara. Plaster was shaken down as cracks appeared in some walls. Similar damage to a lesser degree was reported from Carpinteria and Ventura, south of Santa Barbara. In the Los Angeles area, the swing-like quake awakened thousands of sleepers and remained perceptible for about a minute. From Santa Barbara was reported the recurrence of twin phenomena associated with many large earthquakes and never fully explained scientifically. The sheriff's office said there was a weird flashing of light in the sky followed closely by a pervasive rumbling sound. Because of the broken store windows in the Santa Barbara business section, 100 men were placed on guard under police direction to prevent looting. These included home defense guards, soldiers off duty, American Legionnaires and policemen. The quake was felt sharply as far northward as Santa Maria, 160 miles from here, but not in San Diego and Imperial Valley in the extreme lower end of Southern California.

600 County Men Expected To Register for U. S. Service

Dr. Keator Gives Report on School Physical Tests

School Health Officials Reports 6,373 Pupils Registered and 6,140 Were Examined

Since the inauguration of a full time medical supervision program in the Kingston schools and the employment of an assistant medical supervisor to aid Dr. Henry W. Keator, medical supervisor, practically every student registered in the schools of the city have been examined. Out of a total of 6,373 pupils registered Dr. Keator and his assistant have examined 6,140 since the opening of schools last September.

This examination of students, which included all registered except some 183 who left school before being examined or were absent, discloses the fact that 4,300 pupils were found with one or more physical defect, or 71 per cent of the total student body.

Following examination and upon recommendation of the school medical supervisor 2,348 defects were corrected or are under treatment by the family physician or a specialist, thus in the follow up work of the detected defects have either been corrected or are being treated. This corrective measure is one of the objectives of the medical examination in the school system and the large number of corrections made in Kingston is encouraging to the medical examiners and to the Board of Education.

Dr. Keator, medical supervisor, has submitted his annual report to the Board of Education for the period from September 3, 1940, to June 21, 1941. During that time all schools have been regularly inspected as to lighting, heating, seating and sanitation.

Dr. Keator's report to the board follows:

Total number of pupils registered—6,373.
Total number of pupils examined—6,140.
Included in the above were 205 candidates for athletic activities.

Suspects Arraigned in Big Spy Roundup

Herman Lang, 40, (center) German-born draftsman said to have worked as inspector in the factory making the Norden bomb sight, entered a plea of innocent to espionage charges when arraigned in Brooklyn with others of 29 persons seized in a roundup of spy suspects. Among the other suspects arrested were Axel Wheeler-Hill, 40, (left) identified by federal agents as a brother of James Wheeler-Hill, imprisoned German-American Bund officer, who pleaded guilty, and Frederick Joubert Duquesne, (right) described by J. Edgar Hoover as a "writer, lecturer and professional spy."

About 150 From City Will Sign With Draft Board, Is Estimate Today by Officials

Approximately 600 men who have reached the age of 21 years were expected to register with the four draft boards in Ulster county today in the nation's second peacetime draft. The first peacetime draft was last October.

Amos Richard Newcombe of Manor Lake was the first man to register with the Kingston Selective Service Board this morning when the office in the central post office building opened at 7 o'clock. The local board estimates that approximately 160 men will have registered when the office closes at 9 o'clock tonight.

Thirty-six men, six of them non-residents, registered with the board up until 10 o'clock this morning.

Registration hours throughout the nation today are from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m.

William B. Byrne, who is acting chairman of the local draft board, and Henry C. Connelly, the other member of the board, were at the office before it opened this morning, and they said that the registration was proceeding smoothly.

Samuel Stern, chairman of the board, is a patient in the Kingston Hospital, where he has been for several weeks.

In the other draft zones in Ulster county registration was proceeding slowly. The Saugerties district estimates that approximately 130 men will have registered when the offices close. The board has opened registration places in the board office in the village of Saugerties; a second in the town hall in Woodstock and a third in the town clerk's office in Allenbush. The Saugerties draft board estimated 130 will register.

In the Saugerties office there were 11 men registered at 10 o'clock this morning. It was impossible to get in telephone communication with the other two registration places.

The New Paltz draft board is registering the men in the board's office in the Normal School, and this morning 30 men had been enrolled. The board estimates a registration of between 150 and 175.

The Kerhonkson draft board was registering men in the board office in the Indian Valley Inn, in the

Knox Talk Gives Hint Of Change

Secretary of Navy Calls for Smashing Blow Even If It Costs Blood of Americans

Would Clear Ocean

Definite Revision of Naval Strategy Is Anticipated

Washington, July 1 (P)—Secretary Knox's call for immediate use of the United States navy "to clear the Atlantic of the German menace" led the capital to wonder today whether he was hinting at an important change in administration policy toward Nazi sea activities.

The direct language the navy secretary used in his speech at Boston last night gave rise to the belief in some quarters that a definite revision was contemplated in existing naval strategy.

Knox, who addressed the annual conference of governors, urged that the naval forces be used to deal Hitler "a smashing blow," even though it involved "risk and danger. . . . Sacrifice to the extreme. . . . If need be, American blood."

The speech, it was generally agreed here, went farther than Knox or any other cabinet officer had gone in any previous public pronouncements. The only stronger expressions on the subject in official Washington have come from such ardent advocates of all-out aid as Senators Glass (D., Va. and Pepper (D., Fla.) who have urged that the navy be ordered "to shoot hell" out of German raiders.

Some officials attached considerable weight to Knox's statements because of the immediate war outlook and the series of incidents affecting the United States since President Roosevelt reasserted the nation's freedom of the seas doctrine in his fireside chat May 27. For one thing, they said, the production of American armament industries has begun to hit something like its stride and the volume of supplies will grow rapidly in the months immediately ahead. Those months—vital months in this crucial year," as Knox phrased it—may represent a decisive opportunity for Britain, if Soviet Russia holds out, they added, hence the need for seeing that all the lease-lend supplies reach her as soon as they are available.

Method of Reasoning
They reasoned that the greater the pressure Britain can apply in other theatres of war, the better Russian chances. Continued R.A.F. onslaughts of greater intensity in the west might force the recall of some Luftwaffe squadrons from defense, thereby lessening the air strength available against Russia in the east. Hit-and-run descents by raiding parties along the lengthy German-held coastline likewise could create diversions calculated to keep the Reich from reducing garrisons to reinforce the army in Russia. One military specialist did not rule out coastal operations larger than the hit-and-run variety.

These considerations, it was said, place a new urgency on the need for delivering the goods safely. It was noted that while Knox and several other cabinet officers previously have stressed the need for delivering the goods, it was not until last night that use of the navy was urged—not for conveying, but for "clearing" the Atlantic of the "German menace."

Knox declared that this country now had a "God-given chance to determine the outcome of this world wide struggle."

Asserting "our business has become the halting of the Hun," he said:

"Now is the time to strike." "If, while Hitler is assaulting Stalin," he declared, "we can clear the path across the Atlantic, and

Russians Claim Nazi Drive Is Checked at Two Sectors; German Report Tells of Gains

Crash in Which Woman Was Killed

Rosena Van Aken, 70, of High Falls received fatal injuries this morning when the foreground car in which she was riding with her husband, Riley Van Aken, was in collision with a car driven by Charles W. Hymer of Wilmington, Del., at the intersection of the High Falls road and Route 209 near Stone Ridge. Mrs. Hymer, a passenger in the car shown in the right background was treated at the Benedictine Hospital.

Mrs. Van Aken Is Killed in Crash Near Stone Ridge

Wilmington, Del., Woman Is Taken to Local Hospital; Van Aken Also Is Hurt

Rosena Van Aken, 70, of High Falls was fatally injured about 9:45 o'clock this morning when the Ford car in which she was riding with her husband Riley Van Aken, 72, was involved in a two car crash at the junction of the Kingston-Ellenville road and the High Falls road at Stone Ridge. Mrs. Van Aken was attended by Dr. Edward F. Shea at his office but died before she could be taken to a hospital. She suffered severe injuries about the face and body.

Mrs. Charles W. Hymer of 410 West 9th street, Wilmington, Delaware, was injured about the right leg and taken to the Benedictine Hospital where her condition was reported as fairly good and she was expected to remain at the hospital for a few days. Mr. Hymer was but slightly injured about one knee and slight body injuries. He was not admitted to the hospital.

Mr. Van Aken suffered a cut on the nose and complained of injuries to his chest. Later at the sheriff's office where he came to report the accident he complained of pain in his chest and was later attended by a physician.

Occurs at Intersection

The accident happened at the intersection of the High Falls road with route 209 in front of the Frank Bishop place. Mr. Van Aken was driving his sedan from his home on the Berne road toward Kerhonkson and had just entered the main highway to turn left. The sedan of Mr. Hymer was proceeding toward Kingston. The two cars crashed on route 209 just at the intersection. Both cars were badly damaged. The Cadillac was damaged about the right front and was towed to the Stuyvesant Garage while the Ford was damaged about the front and right side and towed to the Anderson Garage. Mr. Van Aken lives on the Frank Gillette farm.

In the Delaware car were Mr. and Mrs. Hymer, both in the front seat while the other car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Van Aken, both in front. The right front of the Van Aken car where Mrs. Van Aken was seated was pushed backwards by the impact.

Mr. Van Aken said he had just entered the intersection when he saw the Delaware car coming toward him and he applied the gas to get out of its way. The other driver, he said, turned to his left to pass ahead of the Van Aken car but they crashed. Mr. Van Aken said he had almost reached his side of route 209 when the crash came.

After the collision the Van Aken car was turned around and headed back toward the High Falls intersection while the Hymer car ran some 40 feet and into the bank along the driveway to the Bishop place.

Officer Thomas Moreo of the B.W.S. Police was on patrol duty near the scene and reached the scene a few minutes after the crash and before the people left the scene. Sheriff Moreo was notified and Deputies Clayton Vredenburg and Herbert Segelken went to the scene and were later joined by Troopers John Metzger and L. Baker of the B.C.I.

Two 'First Timers' Start for 'Exchange'

New York, July 1 (P)—Emil Schram, newly elected president of the New York Stock Exchange, left his hotel this morning to put in the first day on his new job. Stepping into a taxicab he told the driver to take him to the Stock Exchange. "Where is it?" asked the driver. "I don't know either," replied the former RFC chairman. "I have a job there but I don't know the exact location." "Well," apologized the taxi man, "this is my first day driving a cab."

They finally located the big building at Broad and Wall streets.

Ulster May Not Feel Milk Strike

Deny Farmers Union Is Not Active in Area

The proposed strike of members of the Dairy Farmers Union, who were to begin holding milk on their farms this morning, to cut the flow of milk to New York and force a price of $3 a hundred (47 cents), possibly may not have too many repercussions in Ulster county.

The Dairy Farmers Union originally was organized by Archie Wright, who later severed his connection with the union and organized the Farmers Union, and so far as has been learned it is not active in Ulster county.

The $3 per cwt. price being asked compares with a base price of $2 paid in May for milk containing 3.5 per cent of butter fat. There were additions for increased amount of butter fat and also freight differentials, so that dairy-men actually received from $2 to $2.25 for May milk.

The checks for June milk will not come through until about July 25, but should be about the same, or perhaps better, than the May checks, as more milk went in uses other than for fluid milk and into products on which the government has pegged prices.

One June 21 dairymen approved amendments to the milk marketing order, which are expected to result in somewhat better prices, Farm Bureau Manager Albert

Two Are Injured When Car, Taxi Are in Collision

Lillian Vandemark, Juleta Deegan Are Rushed to Hospital; Crash on Clifton Avenue

Two women were rushed to the Kingston Hospital for treatment while one of Roosa's taxicabs and the auto of Mrs. Helen Marie Brophy of 407 Delaware avenue were damaged badly in a collision at the intersection of Shufeldt street and Clifton avenue shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The taxi, operated by Charles Killingbeck of 131 Jansen avenue, was turned over by the force of the impact and landed with the four wheels in the air.

Riding in the taxi was Lillian Vandemark, one of the two women rushed to the hospital, while Miss Juleta Deegan of 188 Foxhall avenue, riding with Mrs. Brophy, was the other woman.

Just how badly the two women were injured was not known at the time The Freeman went to press.

Riding in the Brophy car were also Mrs. Paul Misove of 188 Foxhall avenue, her daughter, Dolores, and little Jacqueline Amato of 76 Prince street. The children escaped with slight bruises as did Mrs. Brophy. Mrs. Misove said she was not hurt.

According to the police report the car operated by Mrs. Brophy was ascending the Shufeldt street hill into Clifton avenue while the taxi was being operated over Clifton avenue.

The entire front end of the Brophy car was shoved in, while the right side of the taxi was crushed in and the top badly dented where it alighted on the pavement. The windshield of the taxi was crumpled and the shattered-proof glass badly cracked. The gas tank on the taxi also sprang a leak and the fuel was spread over the pavement.

Dr. Seeley Home

The Rev. Frank B. Seeley, D.D., pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, who recently underwent a major operation at the Kingston Hospital, returned to his home on Maiden Lane today. After a short period of recuperation at his home, Dr. Seeley will go to Brandon, Vermont, for the summer.

Berlin Says Two Nazi Tank Columns Are Far East of Minsk in Red Territory

Pincer Closes

Vise-Like Pressure Is Being Put Upon Fleeing Russians

(By The Associated Press)

In bitter all-night fighting, Russia's troops declared today they had checked the advance of German invasion forces at two main sectors of the 2,000-mile battlefront—in the Minsk-Brobusk and Luck areas—where the Nazis are striking directly toward Moscow and the Soviet Ukraine.

The Germans, by contrast, asserted that two Nazi tank columns "now are far east of Minsk," capital of white Russia, and that German schnelle truppen (speed troops) were in sight of Smolensk, 250 miles from Moscow.

The German high command said Nazi and Slovak troops were "carrying forward the pursuit of the enemy on both sides of Lwow," the gateway to the Ukraine.

The Soviet armies surrounded between Bialystok and Minsk vainly made desperate attempts the entire day to break out of the vise," the Nazi communique said. Approximately 400,000 Russian troops are reported caught in the Nazi trap.

The German war bulletin declared that the Russians, charging in formations eight to 12 ranks deep and supported by heavy tanks, "collided with unusually bloody losses."

Radio reports from Stockholm said Riga, the capital of Sovietized Latvia, had fallen into Nazi hands.

France's off-stage role in the 10-day-old struggle moved nearer the actual fighting with a statement by the Vichy French government that it had "no objection" to French volunteers fighting alongside their former enemies, the Germans.

Only yesterday France broke off diplomatic relations with Russia.

Rome radio said Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini decided on "the war against Moscow and the destruction of the Red army" at their latest Brenner Pass meeting, June 2.

Soviet Tanks Destroyed
A Berlin radio broadcast said German Bavarian Alpine troops, in violent action at Lwow, former Poland, had destroyed 100 Soviet tanks with hand grenades.

A Russian communique tersely sketched the huge-scale conflict as follows:

"In the Minsk and Brobusk directions, our troops fought all night against superior enemy forces, successfully counteracting their attempts to thrust toward the east."

"Infantry, artillery, tanks and the air force participated in the fighting."

Minsk lies 20 miles inside the old Soviet frontier. Brobusk is about 90 miles southeast of Minsk.

The communique also declared that the Red army had stemmed the Nazi onslaught toward the Ukraine, counter-attacking and destroying German tanks.

Far up in the Arctic, the communique said, "fierce clashes with the German troops are in progress. . . . The enemy is suffering considerable losses." This was in the Murmansk area, at the extreme northern tip of the vast line which stretches to the distant shores of the Black Sea.

Claims Are Countered
Countering official German claims of having all but smashed the Soviet air force, Premier Joseph Stalin's high command emphasized that heavy aerial forces had been hurled into the assault on fresh Nazi troops driving toward Leningrad in the Dvinsk area, Latvia.

Strong air force cooperation was reported all along the Red army's front.

In its preliminary report today, Adolf Hitler's high command asserted that 280 Russian planes were destroyed yesterday, including 216 in air fights over the Dvinsk region.

The Germans left a clear implication that the advance "speed troops" which had knifed more than 200 miles into the U. S. S. R. toward Smolensk—about halfway to Moscow—did not comprise an army of occupation but rather a raiding column whose presence "without doubt soon will prove most uncomfortable to the enemy."

This contingent on wheels, it was pointed out, had outstripped Napoleon's march on Moscow by nearly six weeks. Over the same route covered by the Nazi spearhead in little more than a week, Napoleon launched his ill-fated drive on Moscow June 24, 1812.

No Immediate Relief From Heat Wave Is Expected

Kingston was still sweltering in the grip of the heat wave, and there were no indications that the wave would be broken today. Last night about 7 o'clock some relief was afforded when there was a heavy downpour of rain.

The records in the city engineer's office show that during the downpour there was a total precipitation of .08 of an inch. The total rainfall for June was 4.23 inches, which was reported as being normal for that month in Kingston.

The highest temperature recorded Monday afternoon was 94 degrees, while during the night the temperature dropped to a low of 73 degrees. Another day of oven-like temperatures was indicated.

The hottest day in June was that of Sunday, June 22, when the official city thermometer reported an all-time high of 99 degrees. This was the highest June recording in the city. The city thermometer is hung in the shade, and while it is recording in the 90's, thermometers exposed to the rays of the sun are "clicking" more than 100 degrees.

Father Murphy Celebrates Mass

Rev. John Flick, Native of Kingston, Gives Sermon

With all the customary splendor of the ritual of the Catholic Church, the Rev. James L. Murphy, C.S.S.R., a boy of St. Mary's Parish, returned to St. Mary's Sunday to celebrate his first solemn Mass. Father Murphy is the son of Mrs. Esther Hanley Murphy and the late Charles Murphy, well known as a former member of the local police department.

Assisting Father Murphy at the Mass were the Very Rev. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church and Dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties, as Archpriest; the Rev. Ronald Connors as deacon and the Rev. Raymond Gallagher as subdeacon, both from Mount Saint Alphonsus at Esopus. The Rev. Joseph C. Connor of St. Mary's acted as master of ceremonies, and seated in the chancel were the Rev. Gilbert McCormick and the Rev. Raymond Boesch of the Redemptorist Fathers, the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church, the Rev. Francis P. Brennan of St. Patrick's Church, Newburgh, the Rev. Benjamin C. Roth and the Rev. Peter J. Fox of St. Mary's. The church was filled to capacity with the members of Father Murphy's family, his relatives and his friends, many of whom were from Kingston and a great number who came a great distance to assist at his first Mass and to receive his first priestly blessing.

The sermon on the occasion was preached by the Rev. John Flick, also a native of Kingston and a lifelong friend of Father Murphy. It was Father Flick who guided the footsteps of Father Murphy to the altar, and he returned from Lima, Ohio, to honor him on this occasion. In his discourse, Father Flick pointed out that Father Murphy had not dared to enter the sanctuary at his own call, but had done so at the bidding of his Divine Master. Although that call came to him as a boy, Father Murphy had hearkened to the call and accepted Christ's invitation to serve Him at the altar. Father Flick pointed out how during these past 12 years, Father Murphy had striven to form Christ within him so that today he returns to his native parish as another Christ. Father Flick also pointed out the sacrifices that were demanded of the priest as well as the joy that came to him as the ambassador of Christ and the dispenser of His Divine mysteries. Father Flick also paid tribute to Father Murphy's mother and father, pointing out that God alone knows the sacrifices they have made to see this day, and now God rewards them with the greatest happiness that can come to any human being. In conclusion Father Flick congratulated Father Murphy's mother and family, and especially congratulated Father Murphy himself, wishing him many happy and fruitful years in Christ's service.

In the afternoon Father Murphy held a reception in St. Mary's Hall at which he greeted his many friends and well-wishers.

Mrs. Edward Hartney and daughter Joan were in Walden, Friday afternoon.

Applications for Auxiliary Police

Blanks May Be Obtained From Chief Phinney

Young men, between the ages of 23 and 28 years, who desire to serve as members of the auxiliary police force to be organized this summer by Chief of Police Charles Phinney as a home defense measure, may obtain application blanks, commencing Tuesday, at police headquarters.

Chief Phinney said today that the blanks can only be obtained from him personally, as he desired to explain to all those who planned to become auxiliary police, just what the duties would consist of. All men must be able to pass a physical test, also, before being accepted.

The chief has had special application blanks prepared which each applicant must fill out. Those who are selected to serve will be chosen from the list of applicants, and will qualify as auxiliary police and sworn in as special policemen, to serve when called upon.

For the purpose of instructing the applicants chosen to serve, the police chief plans to hold a police school during the summer months where the applicants will receive instructions in actual police duties. Instruction at this school will cover topics on all the varied details of serving as a member of the police force.

P.S.C. Warns of Bus Operation

Memorandum Issued Cites Specific Infractions

Albany, July 1—The Public Service Commission has issued a warning that it will crack down on all unauthorized omnibus operation in territory under its jurisdiction outside of New York City and unless an applicant for a certificate of convenience and necessity appears before the Commission with "clean hands," permission to operate will not be granted.

The warning is contained in a memorandum adopted by the Commission which states that the Commission has received information that there have been a number of instances where buses have been operating illegally and that in other instances bus service has been discontinued by authorized operators without permission of the Commission.

The memorandum cites specific infractions as follows:

Operation over streets, highways and public places without local consent and authority from the Public Service Commission.

Deviations from authorized routes without the approval of the Commission.

Suspension of service without obtaining permission of the Commission.

Operation under rights granted to others before the transfer of such rights has been officially authorized.

"It seems to have been assumed," the memorandum declares, "that a bus operator may begin operation over unauthorized routes before legal consent has been obtained and that such illegal operation will not prejudice the operator's case before local authorities and before this Commission."

"There have been instances where the Commission has condoned such practices by granting a certificate to operate although the operator was guilty of illegal operation prior thereto; but what was incidental and perhaps accidental has developed into a practice, and the Commission has decided that hereafter no authority will be granted to an operator guilty of illegal operation at the time that all illegal operation must cease and that every applicant must come before the Commission with clean hands and secure full legal authority to operate before proceeding."

"This general statement applies to all classes of illegal operation. In other words, operation over a new route or any highway, street or public place for which full authority has not been obtained will not be allowed. Deviations from authorized routes, although they may be on parallel or adjacent streets, may not be undertaken without full authority. No operator may abandon part or all of a route or cease to operate as required by his certificate and the laws of the State without first having obtained complete authority to do so."

"The only exceptions to these rules are temporary or extreme emergencies where such unusual occurrences as fires, floods and street reconstructions require an immediate and brief departure from authorized routes or suspension of service. Even then, if the operation is to continue for any considerable length of time, authority should be obtained. The employees of the Commission have been instructed to report promptly all cases of illegal operation."

The Commission has announced that a copy of the memorandum will be sent to every bus operator so that there will be no excuse for illegal operation or failure to comply with the law regarding bus operations.

Reform Parolee Tells of Killings

Police Captain Quotes Lad of 19 Who Has Three Slayings in Record

Chicago, July 1 (AP)—"Sure, I killed 'em. I shot 'em all. And I don't feel one way or the other about it, good or bad—if I get the chair it's okay with me."

Thus Police Captain Hugh McCarthy quoted 19-year-old Bernard (Knifey) Sawicki as the St. Charles School of Boys Parolee chewed gum and boastfully rattled off yesterday an account of three killings and the wounding of a youth in a four-day crime spree.

Sawicki, whose foster mother said "he was left on our doorstep when he was three years old and has been a trouble ever since," confessed these killings, McCarthy said, and commented on each:

Henry Allain, 72, Momenca, Ill., farmer, slain Friday in a field on his farm—"he's an old guy that got me sent to St. Charles. Put the finger on me, the stinking squealer. I hate squealers."

John J. Miller, 19, Chicago, slain Sunday as he walked with a woman companion in a park—"I tell this guy it's a stickup. He gets wise and starts scrapping and the dame with him scratches me. So I shoot the guy."

Charles J. Speaker, 58, Chicago Park policeman, killed Monday on duty—"He tries to get me just when I'm stickin' up a couple. No cop does that to ol' Bernie. I aim Hanley, Dorothy Friend, Dorothy Rockwell and Barbara Pollet who gave such a fascinating performance last season as the little trouble-maker in "Children's Hour."

Charles Kwasinski, 17, former St. Charles inmate, shot and wounded seriously Sunday—"Sure I shot him. I wanted him to hold up a hotel with me but he got yellow."

McCarthy said Sawicki obtained the pistol from a deputy sheriff whom he fed liquor. "He was telling me how he took this gun away from a guy who was going to kill him," the youth said, "So I decided to take the gun and everything else he had."

Sawicki said "I was mighty handy with a knife" and "started playing with guns when I was in the fifth grade." He was held on an open charge.

Drama Friday at Maverick Theatre

Christa Winslow's Drama, 'Girls in Uniform'

The curtain will go up at The Maverick Theatre on the season's second production Friday, July 4. The play will be Christa Winslow's drama, "Girls in Uniform" which deals with a pupil's love for her teacher in a Prussian school. Margaret Phillips a Welsh girl for whom Cecil Clovelly predicts a brilliant future, plays the part of Manuela whose devotion to her teacher ends in tragedy. Margaret, who will make her debut at The Maverick Theatre Friday, has aroused a great deal of interest among the critics who saw her work at Mr. Clovelly's New York Studio. Last winter she and her mother went to see "The Corn is Green" and upon hearing their native tongue spoken by one of the actors, they couldn't resist going back stage to talk to him. They were dumbfounded to discover that the "Welsh" boy was Charles Purcell, who knew not a single word of Welsh beyond what he had memorized for his part. Upon learning that Margaret's ambition was to be an actress, Charlie took her up to see Mr. Clovelly who promptly decided to bring her to the Maverick this summer where Charlie got his start last year.

Fraulein von Bernburg the object of Manuela's adoration will be played by Edith Clinton, talented graduate of the London Royal Academy. As the instructress who

EGGS FOR SOLDIERS

There may be some connection between two news items appearing on the same day recently. "U. S. Army Gains Ten Million Pounds" and "Egg Production Gains as Prices Soar to New Peak" were the two headlines.

The first story, based on a report of the Quartermaster Corps, said that new soldiers gained an average of 10 pounds apiece in their first three weeks in the army. Scientific diet was credited for part of this gain. "Our aim," the report stated, "is to provide fruit every day, usually for breakfast, cereals, one egg per man per day, milk, vegetables, meat and cheese."

American hens, according to the other story, are responding to this defense demand. The Department of Agriculture's latest summary of the egg situation forecasts an increase of 5 to 10 per cent in the number of laying hens in this country by January, 1942. On the first of June, this year, about eight per cent more young chickens were in the flocks of laying hens than on June 1 a year ago.

Furthermore, egg production for the first five months of 1941 was a little more than three per cent larger than it was during the same period of 1940. Total production next fall and winter may be the largest on record for that season. Ordinarily that would mean a drop in price rather than a rise, but the men in the defense forces are probably eating more eggs than they ate in civilian life, and that's all to the good.

SIX-DAY GARDENING

Paeans of praise will rise from many a gardener's heart to the garden editor who recently told her readers to rest in their gardens on Sunday.

"What is the use," she asked, "of creating a beautiful garden if you only work in it and never have time to enjoy it? Any work that does not get done by Saturday night should wait until Monday."

At first, welcome as it is, this advice will be hard to follow. So earnest have gardeners become of late that they cannot see a weed, even on the day of rest, without pulling it, or an insect without dashing for the spray gun. But it is worth the effort to conquer such impulses.

"Tell yourself," the garden writer says, "that there is another day coming, lean back and invite your soul." The fragrance of the honeysuckle, the beauty of the roses and the delightful ways of the birds that come to your garden will be your rewards both for laboring six days a week and for pausing to enjoy the seventh.

THE GOOD OLD BIKE

The vitality of cycling, as a popular sport, continues to surprise oldtimers. Not only have automobiles and motorcycles failed to drive it out, but it is probably stronger today than ever before.

And it isn't only the boys and girls who keep the sport alive. Latterly there has been a revival of cycling enthusiasm among grown-ups. There are clubs formed for adults on a growing scale, with week-end rides and other events, and use of the Youth Hostel facilities.

This has been a natural peace-time growth, but the movement is obviously helped lately by the rearmament program and the threatened rise in the cost and operation of automobiles. But mostly it seems to arise from a natural appreciation of the bicycle itself as a vehicle for healthful sport on highways and streets that are not used by the automobiles and trucks.

MAKING TROUBLE

It's surprising how much trouble can be made unintentionally. There was the dog, for instance, that started trotting across a busy Chicago street without meaning any harm to anybody. An observer reported as follows.

A woman driver swerved her car suddenly to avoid running over the dog. A second car banged into hers. A third car bumped violently into the second car from behind. A fourth car banged into the back of the third. They were all pretty well tangled up and considerable damage was done, although fortunately nobody was killed.

And the fool dog? Why, he just trotted on about his business, apparently unaware that he had made any trouble for anybody. Lots of people are like that.

WORTH PREVENTING

A list of the booty Hitler gets out of European Russia if he conquered it would include the coal and iron of the Don river basin, the big power plant (American-built) at Dnepropetrovsk, the oil fields of the Caucasus, the grain of the Ukraine, and the timber of Karelia.

Before he gets them he has to win a war and do a gigantic task of organizing. If there's enough interference in various places and of various kinds, it may take him a long time to get full value from such resources. Otherwise—it's darker days for all of us, everywhere.

After all these years of regarding the camel as a symbol of sobriety, it's a terrible shock to learn that camels can get drunk on water.

"No confirmation available" seems to be the most-used phrase in news of the Nazi-Russian war.

When an ordinary person tries to understand Hitler's explanation of why he attacks another harmless country, reason totters.

The gas used in this war is mostly hot air.

HEART AND BRAIN STROKES

A physician examining a young man for an insurance policy found the systolic blood pressure (pressure at its highest point) about 150 instead of 120. Even after a rest of a few minutes, the pressure was still 150. As the young man had taken a street car to the office and had eaten his lunch two hours previously, so that neither exercise or digestion was affecting his pressure, the physician asked him to return at the same hour and under the same circumstances one week later. The pressure was 150 the second time.

The physician then advised him that although his systolic blood pressure was high, his diastolic pressure (lowest pressure) was normal and that his high systolic pressure was not likely due to hard arteries but to some nervousness or tenseness he felt regarding the examination. The young man admitted that he was very anxious to obtain the insurance and that perhaps he was "tensed inside."

The physician then told him that he would call on him some morning before breakfast and get his blood pressure. He did this a few days later and found the systolic blood pressure at 120—normal.

This tenseness so affects the nervous system that the tiny nerves supplying the walls of the blood vessels are tensed and this tenseness causes the little muscle or elastic fibres in walls of blood vessels to contract or tighten. Naturally, as they contract or make the bloodvessel smaller, the blood has to use more power, more "pressure" to get through this smaller sized bloodvessel. This is why the blood pressure is increased.

Ordinarily this increase in blood pressure due to nervousness, excitement, worry, fear, does little or no damage while we are young and the vessels so elastic. But as we grow older, this tenseness can gradually "overstretch" the elastic walls so that they lose some of their power, or can actually damage the walls so that a little break or tear occurs and the blood oozes out of the blood vessel into the surrounding tissues. If the tear or break occurs in the head, a stroke of apoplexy may occur; if in vessel supplying heart, a heart stroke—coronary thrombosis—occurs. Both conditions may clear up as blood escapes, becomes absorbed.

The lesson, of course, is that, as we grow older, we should try to avoid emotional disturbances whenever possible.

DEFENSE BOND Quiz

Q. Could the Government stop offering Defense Bonds, and raise all the money it needs through taxes alone?

A. No. Excessive taxes always lead to national ruin.

Q. By buying all the Defense Bonds I can afford, and then some, do I do anything to keep taxes down?

A. Yes. If you will do this, and influence all your friends to do this, you will produce a great effect. The more money raised by borrowing, the less need be raised by taxation.

Note.—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

34th Anniversary

Vineyard Rebekah Lodge celebrated its 34th anniversary with a meeting held Thursday night in Odd Fellows Hall. Mrs. Goeth, the noble grand, was in charge of the meeting, which was attended by 100.

A number of high ranking district and state officers were welcomed by Mrs. Goeth. Charter members escorted and greeted were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Blakely and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schuhle. They were presented with gifts by Mrs. Ella Gruner and Marian Simpson, who carried the gifts in a basket decorated in pink and green.

Members who were initiated at the formation of the lodge and who are still active include Carp Dapp, Mr. and Mrs. Max Gruner, Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erichsen, Chauncey Boyce and Lorin S. Callahan. Charter members present were called upon for a few brief remarks.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Mabel Coons, followed by a drill of 12 members who carried arm bouquets of daisies and black eyed Susans. They formed a semicircle. Mabel Erichsen, Junior past district deputy, presented the big birthday cake to the presiding officer while Mrs. Florence E. Cotant sang appropriate words to the tune of "In the Gloaming."

She was accompanied by Mrs. Blakely at the piano. Mrs. Myra Ball was musician for the drill.

At the close of the meeting a large cake was decorated and lighted with candles. The cake was baked by Mrs. Cecile Peterson of New Paltz. At the close of the drill flowers were placed in urns on either side of the rostrum.

Other numbers on the program were "The Glow Worm," Mrs. Florence Cramer, Mrs. Charlotte Salomon, Mrs. Ella Fisher, Soprano solo, "Just Because of You," Mrs. Mary Wells. A humorous skit written by Mrs. Mabel Schneider, entitled "Southern Love Under a Northern Moon."

Those taking part were Mrs. Cecile Peterson, Mrs. Erichsen, Mrs. Salomon, Mrs. Ball and Mrs. Coons.

Mrs. Peterson had charge of refreshments. Mrs. Katie Tompkins of the seating and Mrs. Mabel Coons the entertainment.

Articles For War Relief

The Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church made the following return for war relief: Two and one half pounds of candles, 17 pounds buttons, two and one half pounds tin foil, one half pound aluminum, one half pound milk bottle caps, four cartons of clothing for Britain and one bag for China.

Members working at the task of sorting and packing articles were Mrs. Troy Cook, Mrs. William Russell, Mrs. Allen Sheeley of the society, also Mrs. A. S. MacCormac, Mrs. Luther Filkins of the council.

On July 11th, the Women's Society for Christian Service will meet at 10 a. m. in the Methodist Church parlors to mend the clothing gathered. At that time they will welcome donations of quilt patches, both wool and cotton, and any other articles of clothing.

Each member will bring a covered dish for the luncheon and work will be continued until time for the regular meeting of the society.

Prominent Americans Who Believe in Foreign Policy Would Soft-Pedal Alarmist Tactics

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, July 1—Many Americans of prominence who believe in the President's foreign policy are wondering what is the best way to influence the administration to prevent the taking of steps which unduly alarm the nation and play into the hands of the isolationist groups.

Thus recently the announcement of a drastically worded bill to seize private property gave the opponents of the administration's policy an opportunity to capitalize on the incident extensively. What Wendell Willkie did in this situation illustrates a method of approach which has proved effective. Without letting anyone know about it, he is reported today to have sought out the officials in the war department who drafted the measure and after a prolonged conference with them succeeded in persuading them to change the terms of the bill.

News of the conference leaked out today on Capitol Hill where the bill is before a committee of the House of Representatives. It appears that Under-Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson was the author of the proposal. Though attributed erroneously in press reports to some Wall Street lawyers it is known now that Mr. Patterson acknowledged authorship of the bill. He was formerly a judge on the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, having been appointed to the bench by President Roosevelt.

It is understood that Mr. Patterson did not intend that the power under the proposed law should be used indiscriminately to seize private property but that it should be invoked only to obtain certain materials and military facilities. Mr. Willkie is said to have pointed out that while the objectives of the bill were understandable, there were many patriotic citizens who believed that the authority to be granted was such that it could readily be applied to seize radio stations or newspapers. Inasmuch as such a need for power to seize property was doubtless remote, the former Republican standard bearer made the point that it would be better to reassure the public than to get the broad discretionary power for a remote contingency.

The position of public officials in the Republican party is somewhat different from that of those who, like Mr. Willkie, are in private life. The members of Congress, for instance, have official access to what the government is doing, particularly in the executive agencies and can themselves modify the legislation when it reaches Capitol Hill.

There are some evidences that Democrats as well as Republicans are beginning to feel their responsibilities for the handling of the defense program. The report issued by the House Military Affairs Committee, of which Representative May of Kentucky, Democrat, is chairman, is causing a lot of discussion. It is really the first official criticism that has been made of the defense program as a whole and it is not in any sense a partisan document. It is restrained and courteous in its terms and does not seek to single out any one agency or individual, but distributes the blame widely.

The House Military Affairs Committee is the agency which is charged with the responsibility of checking up on the military program. It took testimony in executive session so as to refute any possible suggestion that the purpose was to air the government's inner secrets in public. Many of the figures gathered doubtless will be withheld. In fact, the house committee has given in its lengthy report, which will be printed next week, an example of how to criticize and at the same time furnish constructive suggestions.

The defense program is such an immense undertaking that mistakes were bound to be made. The spirit of cooperation between the government departments charged with the military program and industry has been excellent, being impaired only by those class-conscious New Dealers who are unhappy when they are not blasting away at business. Their tactics have brought discord and have produced disunity. Only the President apparently can dissuade them from their strategy of wreckage at a critical time.

Mr. Willkie might have made a public statement on the property seizure bill and it would have provoked considerable controversy. He might have been compelled to make his views public, as it was, but he found the war department officials cooperative and the conference resulted in a modified bill.

Not all the objections to the proposal have been removed. Testimony is being taken by the House Military Affairs Committee. One section in particular is causing concern. It is that which relates to patent rights. Under one provision it is assumed that the war department might be able to take patents from one company and give them to another to use. There would appear to be little understanding yet of the dangers of such revelation of patent formulas to competitors.

If the American economic system were to be rebuilt after the war so that cartels under a system of government control would be substituted for the competitive system, the measures now being proposed would be a logical precursor and would do no harm. But if the system of free competition is to be preserved, some method of protecting patent rights and secret formulas must be devised so that, on the one hand, the government can get the quantity production it wishes and, on the other hand, the patents will not be allocated to companies which have no legal right to them.

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

With fireworks banned in Kingston this Fourth of July, it is interesting to recall that the Fourth was appropriately celebrated in Kingston in 1919 when the Common Council, at the suggestion of Mayor Palmer Canfield, arranged to hold municipal exercises at Forsyth Park and Kingston Point Park the evening of the holiday.

At Forsyth Park the mayor presided and the patriotic address was given by Harry H. Flemming, while at Kingston Point Park the address was delivered by Alfred D. Van Buren, while Alderman-at-large Samuel M. Watts presided.

Following the patriotic exercises the municipal display of fireworks was held in the park.

As was the custom for several years the annual outing and picnic of the members of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church was held the afternoon of the Fourth in Forsyth Park.

I recall that July 1, 1919, was not the "thirsty-first" of July as expected, and that although Kingston, along with the rest of the United States, was dry, or theoretically so, this city while not wet at least was moist.

Practically all of the saloons remained opened and dispensed what was known as 2.75 per cent beer and light wines. Hard stuff, however, was supposedly banned, and if any was consumed it was in the private homes.

The year 1919 marked the beginning of the "great experiment" of prohibition remained in effect for some time until it was finally repealed.

I wonder how many of the older readers recall the days when Broadway was paved with brick. It was on July 1, 1909, that Ring & Foley, the contractors, began the preliminary work in paving Broadway. The same day there were 40 cases of typhoid fever reported on one of the local brick-works.

One of the most active workers in the recently organized Kingston Industrial Bureau is William A. Van Valkenburgh, the well known insurance broker. I recall that in December, 1918, he was appointed alderman of the Ninth ward to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Alderman Charles E. Powell, the local paper box manufacturer.

Alderman Powell had filed his resignation with Mayor Canfield and the same day he left with William Decker to motor across the continent to spend the winter in California.

Alderman Powell as he planned to be away from Kingston for some time decided it would be wise to leave his ward without

By T. M. Stevenson

Perhaps it is true that the best way to make a point is to remove it from the realm of hard fact, and present it as a hypothetical case. Present it as fiction, for example, as D. M. Stevenson has done in "Mrs. Tim Carries On."

For Miss Stevenson has wanted, as have a hundred other British writers, to explain to the world (and particularly to themselves, perhaps) exactly how Britain is taking the war. Not how the British Army is conducting itself or how the diplomatic maneuvers are effected, or how an expeditionary force works. But how all the people of Britain who are in Britain live and think and manage their lives. What they eat and what they do and what they say—and think.

So Miss Stevenson has her well known "Mrs. Tim" write a diary for her husband, the major to read when he comes home from fighting in Belgium and France. When she starts the diary Mrs. Tim has no idea how brief that campaign will be, or that it will end in one of the epic retreats of all time. The author was she knew that the Major will not return with his men, but will have to make his way home alone and through a great many adventures. She does not even know that after he has returned she will keep her diary going as a release for her own spirit.

It is a truly remarkable job, taking the war, not how the British Army is conducting itself or how the diplomatic maneuvers are effected, or how an expeditionary force works. But how all the people of Britain who are in Britain live and think and manage their lives. What they eat and what they do and what they say—and think.

"Mrs. Tim Carries On" gets much farther in its gentle, shrewd, sentimental way than any similar book I can remember.

representation in the Common Council, which led to his resignation.

Alderman Van Valkenburgh was appointed by Mayor Canfield, and undoubtedly the genial insurance man still recalls the days when he served as one of the city fathers.

Nazis Have Not Yet Won Decisive Battle in Russia

Red Army Strength Still Remains Enigma and What Hitler's Exact Gains Are Still Are Kept Vague

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Freeman Special News Service)

Ten days of fierce and destructive warfare along the 2,000-mile front between the mighty German and Russian fighting machines has failed to produce conclusive evidence as to the Bolshevist powers of resistance to the most powerful army ever sent into action.

This is to say that while the Nazis have driven deep into enemy territory, and claim that along the strategic Minsk highway in the center of the Russian line they have thrust their mechanized column something like half way to Moscow, they haven't yet won a decisive engagement. They have laid the foundations for what may be a great and quick victory, but they still have to capitalize them.

However, Britain and her allies will be rash to gamble that their respite from heavy German assault in the western theatre will be long. Judging from past performances, and from present progress, Hitler may be in Moscow in short order. He may also have attained his other objectives, including the rich Ukraine.

That is still a matter of speculation. We lack information regarding the real strength of the much advertised Red army, and the stability of the vast Soviet Union with its heterogeneous population of 170,000,000 or more. One wonders whether Communist Chief Stalin himself has any idea of just how much power he has back of him, or whether he can harness and utilize what there is.

Harrington Held For Grand Jury As Drunken Driver

John L. Harrington of Farmingdale, L. I., who with his two young daughters was injured in an automobile accident on Route 209 Sunday night, was taken into custody Monday afternoon on his discharge from the hospital and held at the Ulster county jail. Last night he was taken by Deputy Sheriff McCullough before Justice Charles R. Tiller of West Hurley on a charge of driving while intoxicated, as a second offender. He waived examination and was held for action of the grand jury.

Deputy McCullough said that Harrington, who is an airplane mechanic at Mitchell Field, had four notations on his license and admitted that in December, 1929, he was fined $100 in justice's court at Oyster Bay for drunken driving.

Harrington's car left the highway about 7 o'clock Sunday night just north of Hurley, ploughed along the bank for some distance, turned over and finally came to a stop right side up. Harrington and his two daughters, Doris, 13, and Gail, 4, were taken to the Kingston Hospital. He suffered severe head lacerations and was thought to have a possible skull fracture. The girls, who were bruised and cut, were reported to be in good condition this morning.

Elwyn to Present Comedy This Week

'Final Answer' to Be Staged at Woodstock Playhouse

This Thursday Robert Elwyn will offer as his second play of the season at the Woodstock Playhouse a new comedy by Llewellyn Miller called "Final Answer." In the starring roles will be Philippa Bevens, daughter of the famous Viola Roach, and William Halstead, who scored as Elissa Landi's "husband" in "The Shining Hour," which opened the Playhouse's season this past week-end. "Final Answer" will run for four nights and will also feature Elizabeth Malloch, Karl Malden, Duane McKinney and Phyllis Ellerman.

Miss Miller, the author of "Final Answer," has arrived from New York city and is staying at the Villetta in Byrdcliffe, where the resident company is housed. She will assist Elwyn in the production. Miss Miller, now editor of Screen Life magazine, is a former Los Angeles newspaperwoman.

As for the stars of "Final

Answer," both Miss Bevens and Mr. Halstead have had interesting theatrical careers. Miss Bevens made her stage debut at the age of 11 with Ann Harding and Lowell Sherman in "The Woman Disputed." She later appeared in David Belasco's production of "Bachelor Father," in "Step-daughters of War" and "Call It A Day." She distinguished herself in two Theatre Guild productions, Katherine Hepburn's "Jane Eyre" and "What Every Woman Wants." Halstead, a senior at the University of California, has appeared in two feature pictures, starred in Pasadena Community Playhouse productions, and attracted attention last year as leading man at the Nutley, N. J., summer theatre.

How to look funny—

ALL OF US know men who scorn the idea of being "stylish." Sissy, they call it. Maybe so. But, just the same, none of us wants to look funny—even in his overalls.

1 What keeps YOU from looking like Sir Walter Raleigh, while others laugh? Aren't you glad styles have CHANGED?

2—or what made you give up peg-top pants and bulldog toes? Don't say "they quit making them." You could still buy them.

3 Oh! So you watched what OTHERS were wearing! Well, who told the OTHERS? When did the CHANGE happen to the FIRST man?

4—Here's what happened: One day a clothing store put an "ad" in the paper. A lot of men saw it. They bought the "new-style" suits. They looked nice. Pretty soon even CARELESS men weren't looking funny.

5—A dime spent by a merchant in newspaper advertising, helping you to buy better style and value, cuts his selling costs and saves you dollars. And who wouldn't spend a dime to save a dollar?

Only in America—out of all the countries in the world—do city men, country men, westerners, easterners, northerners and southerners feel COMFORTABLE together. Bricklayer and banker dress alike. They see themselves in the same mirror, walk the streets in democratic tolerance and equality.

Housing Survey Is Reported by Local Industrial Bureau

There are 158 vacant dwellings in Kingston, including new homes under construction, according to the findings of the housing survey which has just been completed in the city. The survey was in charge of Harry Kachigian, clerk of the Kingston Industrial Bureau, while the work of making the house to house canvass was done by N.Y.A. youths.

Included in the survey of vacant houses are a number of new houses, but since the majority of these houses were erected by persons intending to make them their homes, they cannot be termed vacant.

The survey figures show that there are 126 vacant family houses; 20 vacant two-family houses; and 12 vacant three-or-more family houses.

The survey also took in the rooming houses in the city and at the time the survey was made it was found that there were 57 vacant rooms that could be rented.

The average rental of the vacant properties, according to the survey, was $21 a month.

The great majority of the vacant houses were found in good condition. There were a few houses that needed repairs, and several were found that were unfit for human habitation.

There are approximately 5,000 residential dwellings in Kingston, and the survey showed but a very small percentage of them vacant. When it is considered that there are at least 30 new houses under erection or practically completed, which will be occupied by the owners as soon as ready, the number of vacant houses found is slightly more than a hundred.

This housing survey in the city was made at the request of the state housing division as a part of information being assembled throughout the state so that it is possible to know exactly what housing conditions are in the cities of the state, and the number of houses that might be found available in case there was a sudden increase in population owing to industrial plants engaged on home

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

SYNOPSIS: Henry and Luella Pell are just married, and under the happiest circumstances, Luella always wanted Henry, and for a long time she thought she was going to lose him to Marie Mason. But Marie chose a radio career and Luella got Henry, and Henry got a new and very fine job in New York. But today Marie called Henry at the office, and asked the Pells to hear her broadcast. Henry is more pleased than his wife.

Chapter Five Carolina Singer

"I HOPE you don't think I was criticizing you when I said we were going to discuss bigger things than lamb chops from now on," Henry said. "Don't become one of those touchy wives, darling."

Instantly something down inside Luella seemed to tighten up. She again felt the old sense of fear. Maybe she wasn't going to be the right sort of wife for Henry Pell. Maybe he should have married a more glamorous, adaptable sort of person.

"What's the matter?" Henry asked. "You're not eating anything."

"Oh, I'm just a bit weary," Luella lied. "I lost my appetite when preparing the meal, I reckon."

She pushed back her chair. "I room. Carolina's Singer of Songs was on the air! Little Marie Mason, from down below the Mason and Dixon Line!

"She is lovely!" Luella whispered to Henry. "You'd never think she once wore a tinsel gown and played the Princess in our school operetta, would you?"

"No—you wouldn't," said Henry. He was leaning forward, excited, eager. "She's a knockout! She looks like a pocket edition of Dorothy Lamour."

"Shhhh!" said someone. Henry sank back to listen. So did Luella.

And while listening Luella kept glancing at Henry.

He was like a kid seeing his first circus, she thought, a boy carried away, out of himself completely. And how handsome he looked! His smart, well-tailored dark blue suit made him look even broader of shoulder. And so adorably boyish at times.

Then as she realized how thoroughly Henry was taking to New York and all the excitement it offered—how he seemed to fit in so quickly—she remembered something her aunt had once said, something she had repeated just before she died.

"I like Henry," were her words. "I love him a lot, Luella May, and I want you to be married as soon as you can, but—"

"Yes, Aunt Lila,—but what?"

"But I keep being a little afraid that if he gets a chance Henry'll

"Darlings!" Marie cried as she met them.

think I'll go look over my wardrobe, if you'll excuse me. I want to look my best, you know."

"Sure," said Henry. "Go right ahead. I'll clean off the table when I'm through."

He went right on eating.

In the bedroom Luella stood with her back to the closed door, her two fists clenched at her sides. Her eyes were wide and not a little fearful. "I've got to make good as Henry Pell's wife," she said to herself. "I've got to!"

But she went on feeling uncertain, frightened, in spite of her efforts to buck up.

She wanted to see Marie again, to go on thinking of her as a friend, and a good one, but she dreaded the meeting. She kept remembering Marie's beauty and charm. She kept thinking that Marie would show her up, intentionally or of course, for the smalltown girl that she was. She kept recalling how the homefolks used to wonder which of them Henry Pell would marry—even making bets about it.

Presently she went to her clothes closet.

She took out a pale green dinner gown, a gown whose color always made her hair look like burnished gold, and made her eyes seem more green than gray.

It was the most flattering thing she owned, that pale green gown. And some feminine instinct told her it was the gown for the occasion.

"I'll give me a little more self-confidence!" she said.

And she certainly needed plenty of that. . . .

New World

A FEW hours later Luella and Henry were sitting behind a thick glass partition in the reserved section of a broadcasting station. They occupied two deep chairs from where they could look down upon the main floor of the auditorium, where other spectators sat in folding chairs.

It was rather like sitting in the comfortable loge of a swank movie theater. Luella thought like the balcony in her hometown's newest theater, which had been patterned after New York's huge Music Hall.

The usual announcements had been made, the announcer's voice coming to them through an amplifier system that let in the sound from below but shut off from the studio the sounds from the balcony. And now he was introducing the chief attraction.

"Ladies and gentlemen, seen and unseen," he said. "I now give you Miss Marie Mason, the Carolina Singer of Songs."

A moment's silence for dramatic effect, and then Marie parted the black velvet hangings and stepped forth. A signal from the control defense order being forced to increase their working forces.

Copies of the questionnaires filled out in the present survey are now on file at the office of the Kingston Industrial Bureau in the city hall, while the originals have been sent to the state housing division of the state home defense council.

Election Fails Plan
Convinced that he had failed of reelection in 1918, Woodrow Wilson the next day hit on a plan of resigning immediately so that his supposedly victorious opponent, Charles E. Hughes, might assume office and formulate a new policy in those tumultuous World war days.

The plan: Wilson to appoint Hughes his secretary of state, then he (Wilson) and Vice President Marshall to resign. Hughes would then automatically become President. But while the plan was being discussed late results turned the tide and Wilson won by a hair's breadth.

In response to appeals from soldiers in North Africa for something to make bully beef taste different women of South Africa dispatched many cans of pickles.

Home Relief in New York Hit Low Point in May

Albany, July 1.—The home relief caseload in New York state reached its lowest point last month since May of 1932, reports from New York city and upstate districts to David C. Adie, Commissioner, State Department of Social Welfare, indicated today.

While the percentage drop from April ranged from three to 20 percent throughout urban and rural districts, the decline from May a year ago varied from six to thirty-seven percent.

There were 212,594 cases of home relief in May, exclusive of local homeless and special program groups. This was seven percent lower than April and 17.5 percent under May of last year. Reduction achieved between April and May of this year was notably greater than the movement downward at the same point last year.

There was also a definite decline in the number of cases added to the rolls and fewer people asked for public aid. In the entire State there were seven percent fewer applicants for relief in May than in April, 25 percent fewer than in May of last year and almost 40 percent less than in May 1939.

Family cases greatly predominate in the May rolls but well over a third of the cases are individuals, sometimes called unattached persons, to differentiate them from family cases in which there are varying numbers of children and adults. The percentage of non-family recipients is higher this May than it was in May a year ago and the advance in ratio prevails throughout the State in varying degrees.

In view of the unprecedented demands for labor, the intense training activities and recruiting of workers, and the placement of over 77,000 relief clients in private industry during 1940, the increase in the percentage of unattached persons to the total has leveled attention on this group. In a home relief census taken by the Department last September, single-person cases were counted at 78,000, of whom 31,000 were called unemployed.

The majority of the unemployed were over 45 years of age and 13,000 were over 65. There were 31,000 women counted in this group and 19,000 men, which was in sharp contrast to the employable group in which there was an equal proportion of women and men. In the employable group, however, over half were beyond forty-five years of age and hundreds were over sixty-five. Well over a half of the unemployed were reported physically handicapped.

The May figures coupled with the September census to indicate that the single-person group is largely comprised of women advanced in years and alone, who are not old enough for old age assistance or who do not technically qualify for it. More accurate information about the group will be obtained, Commissioner Adie said.

Recent studies of the employability of relief recipients in five other states, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin, New Jersey and Ohio, Commissioner Adie said, indicate that New York state's relief problems are not unique. The five states the relief rolls, a ratio of 60 percent employable to 40 unemployed. In New York and Illinois the ratio of employables is 58, four points lower than in the other states. In New Jersey more than a third of the general relief cases are classified as unemployables.

Other characteristics common to the relief rolls in these states is the large majority of unskilled and older workers; the smaller number of employable members in relief families than in families in the general population; and the small minority of the population on relief at any given point of time.

Commissioner Adie said that these states include almost 47 percent of all general relief cases and account for almost 57 percent of expenditures for general relief. When such a large number of general relief cases are known to lack employable members the limitations of the defense program in eliminating relief becomes more obvious, he said. Even in the group classified employable, there are large numbers of men and women who can only be absorbed by industry if employers' specifications for quality are relaxed. Another possibility of adding thousands of relief recipients to the working force would be a special program to return the incapacitated to health and ability and another to steer their integration into industry.

"We must keep in mind that only a very small minority of the unemployed in New York state are on relief," Commissioner Adie said. "For every new job opportunity there are four applicants and only one of these is a relief recipient. This has been our long experience in every part of the State, even in the upswing of last year when under an intensified employment program to get men and jobs together we found places for 77,000 home relief recipients in private industry."

will be distributed and in the boxes, it is stated, by 8:30. This is a very distinct improvement over the old time schedule. It is made possible by the arrival of the mail direct from Saugerties and the doing away with the West Hurley route. In order to meet these "dead lines" in the mail leaving Woodstock, the public should have their mail in the office by 10:30 in the morning and 5:30 in the afternoon. Lou Hommel, who has so faithfully carried the mail for the past four years, will be replaced by Mr. Van Wageningen. Leroy Harder will resign and the new personnel will consist of William E. West, Miss Beatrice Ostrander and William S. Elwyn, Jr. These will be temporary appointments, pending the taking of civil service examinations. A new and very satisfactory arrangement at the post office will be leaving the lobby of the office open for certain hours after the office itself is closed. This will enable the public to get their mail from the locked boxes after the office is officially closed. Certain new equipment will also be installed. The whole arrangement is thought by the public to be thoroughly satisfactory.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Storm Bound

Benton Harbor, Mich.—The Benton county highway department got scores of calls for storm aid but was literally halted in its tracks.

The same storm that felled trees across highways also blew down power lines—the highway department's electrically-operated garage doors couldn't be opened.

Funny Coincidence
Huntington, Ind.—Judge Otto Krieg was trying a divorce case when there was a terrific din in a street outside the courtroom.

He declared a recess so that everybody could go to windows and see what was up.

Friends of a couple just married were serenading them.

Not So Fast, There!

Benton, Ill.—The ball and chain has assumed a new role in Benton police court.

Instead of being used to shackle prisoners, they are used to anchor automobiles of speeding drivers.

Police avowed the cars would remain shackled until fines for speeding were paid.

Invasion

Niles, Ill.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rapp are getting quite a buzz out of life—too much, in fact.

Last fall a swarm of bees found refuge in the walls of the Rapp home. They found the residence to their liking for now they have extended their domain to include a bedroom, music room and living room.

Super Supervision
Anchorage, Alaska.—The National Youth Administration's supervised playground opened with a supervisor and 10 assistants. Twenty-five children showed up.

Epidemic
Los Angeles—Strange coincidence department: Robert Fisher, 8, brought to Georgia Street Hospital, told Dr. Robert J. Moes he was burned when a paper milk carton exploded as he was burning it in an incinerator.

Three minutes later an ambulance brought in Rondonny Bonner.

Donations Made To TB Hospital
The following donations were gratefully received at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital during the month of June:

Magazines—Mrs. Arthur Carr. Magazines—Mrs. Walter Weeks. Magazines—Mrs. James Doyle. Magazines—Mrs. Andrew Keefe. Magazines—Moose Lodge. Flowers—Harry Halverson. Flowers—Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Flowers—Mrs. Walter Weeks. Papers & Journals weekly—First Church of Christ Scientist. American Lutheran, Lutheran Witness and Walter League Messenger—Immanuel Senior Walther Society.

Daily papers—Kingston Daily Leader. Crate of oranges—Kingston Laundry. Ice cream—Raphael Cohen. George VanAnden, Knights of Columbus.

Customs authorities stopped an attempt to smuggle 5,000 pairs of lace, 1,000 powder puffs, 2,000 combs and 100 bottles of perfume from Eire into Northern Ireland.

9. He reported the same thing had happened to him. Neither was burned seriously, said Dr. Moes.

Never before, attendants said, had an accident of the kind been reported to the hospital.

Attendance Report Given for Local Schools

A full attendance report of all schools in the city has been submitted for the month ending June 30, 1941, which shows a total registration of 7,710 pupils in the public and private schools of the city with an enrollment of 6,093. The only school to attain a perfect record for the month was St. Peter's parochial school and the average attendance for the month at all schools was 96 per cent.

The final report for the school year on registration and attendance for the public, parochial and private schools of the city follows:

Russians Claim Nazi Drive Checked

and came into sight of Smolensk August 16.

First Alarm for Moscow

Moscow had its first air-raid alarm of the war shortly after midnight but no incidents were reported.

Conscripted men and women of Leningrad labored to fortify Russia's second city, menaced from the Finnish front and by a Nazi drive through the Baltic states.

The Germans claimed they took Minsk in converging drives through Vilna from East Prussia and through Baranowice from Brest Litovsk—trapping two entire Russian armies beyond hope of escape in a triangle of steel around Bialystok.

A Russian division, battered by dive bombers, was reported trapped as firmly farther north by the German drive through the Baltic states to Dvinsk and the Daugava river, a third of the way to Leningrad.

The Germans also reported capturing Lwow, gateway to the fertile Ukraine, and said German and Rumanian forces driving into the heart of the great Soviet granary toward Kiev were finding large areas laid waste and deserted by retreating Russians.

A Soviet report acknowledged withdrawal from Lwow, which the U. S. S. R. gained in the partitioning of Poland, because the flank of the Lwow defense was threatened from the Carpathian frontier when Hungary entered the war on Germany's side.

The Russians declared they were slowing advances by numerically superior Nazi mechanized forces in the Minsk area and battling fiercely to bar the way to Leningrad. The Russians also reported heavy fighting north along the Finnish front to Murmansk, where the Red army declared it took a heavy toll of German attackers.

Attack Is Begun

Reports reaching London last night indicated the Finns had begun an attack on the big naval base at Hangö which they leased to Soviet Russia as one of the concessions after their 1939-40 war.

Acknowledging the seriousness of the war situation, the defense of the Soviet state was entrusted to a special war council headed by Premier Joseph Stalin.

In the air war to the west, British bombers followed up daylight attacks on the Kiel naval base and Sylt with bomb raids last night on Cologne and the Westphalian industrial area of western Germany. Nazi raiders struck overnight at scattered sections of western England and South Wales.

Observers in Washington speculated whether Navy Secretary Frank Knox was hinting at an important change in administration policy toward Nazi sea activities in his Boston speech last night in which he called for immediate use of the United States Navy to "clear the Atlantic of the German menace."

Registration

(By The Associated Press)
WHO—All men, whether citizens or aliens, who have attained their twenty-first birthday since the first Selective Service registration, October 16, 1940.

Also any man between the age of 21 and 36 who failed for any reason to enroll in the first registration.

WHERE—The registration place designated by your local Selective Service Board. There are some 7,500 such places throughout the country. (In Kingston it's Room 2, Federal Building, Central Post Office.)

WHEN—Today, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., local time.

WHY—Because the Selective Service Act makes all men between the ages of 21 and 36 subject to a year of compulsory military training in the interests of national defense, unless otherwise deferred.

Community Night At Barmann Park

Campaign Talks, Movies, Fun Are on Program

The Community Night program this evening in Barmann Park will take the form of a "Campaign Night" with Bud Oulton as master of ceremonies and campaign addresses by Don Reihl, Johnson Allen, Cunningham Adams and Spider Sohms.

There will also be a stage entertainment with movies. The program opens with a song by Nellie Kellie and Betty Reihl, followed by solos by Francis Harris, and the play, "Old Fashions Turn to New Styles."

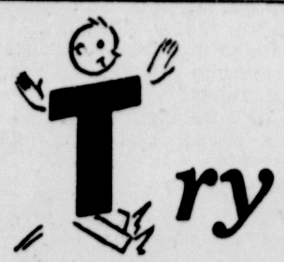

There will also be songs by Elaine McElrath, Jacqueline Bilyou, Marion Roundough, Betty Caddon, Joan Wells, and a song and dance by Andy Ball, Dan Allen and Cunningham Adams.

Following the softball game Loughran Park will have a half hour of races in preparation for the city Olympics. The entertainment this evening will consist of singing, dancing, and a skit by the children of the park. Volley ball and horseshoe pitching will be open to the public. The rules of the park and the results of the election will be announced.

Wednesday night a Community Night program will be given in Hutton Park.

deliver, in safety, the weapons our factories are producing, ultimate defeat for Hitler is certain."

Measures His Words

Knox said that he was measuring his words with care. He said, too, in calling for immediate action, that he would be "derelict if I did not add that all this involves risk and danger. It may involve sacrifice to the uttermost."

"America," he told the governors in an address interrupted nine times by applause, "Must wake up, not alone to its dangers, and the dangers are real and fearsome, but to the realities of the sacrifice demanded.

"We must, if need be, match with American tears, American toil, American sweat and yea, American blood, the toil, the tears, the sweat and the blood which Britain has gallantly spent to hold in check the devastating spread of Nazi power throughout the civilized world."

"The time is here now to use our navy to clear the Atlantic of the German menace."

Knox said it would take Germany "vital months in this crucial year of 1941" to conquer Russia. At another point, he said this country's opportunity to act had come "while Hitler is busy crushing Russia."

He cited "official figures" of shipping losses during the first five months of this year amounting to 2,198,000 tons, and declared "There is only one end to this rate of sinking—victory for Hitler—which will give him ultimate domination over the world."

Evening of Music

This evening at 8 o'clock the Ambassador Quartet of the Eastern Nazarene College at Wollaston, Mass., will appear at the Church of the Nazarene on Elmenor street and Wiltwyck avenue. All music lovers and the public are invited to attend this program of music.

Recreations Battle Mohawk Giants Here on Wednesday

Bozzimen Have Usual Good Stickers With Club for Game at Stadium; Bob Bush to Do Hurling

Manager Joe Hoffman's Kingston Recreations have two stellar attractions booked for municipal stadium this week. Wednesday night Buck Ewing's Mohawk Colored Giants will be here and Friday, July 4, the Brooklyn Dodger Rookies make an appearance here.

As the Giants furnish the first bit of action tomorrow night under the floodlights, the Recs turn to this game and forecast a keen eye on the upstarters. The Giants always have shown a lot of baseball to the local players and this occasion won't be of any exception.

Last year the Recs humbled the Giants which is one very good reason why the local semi-pro club must be ready for anything. Ewing has his club in good shape again, playing plenty of games before reaching this vicinity. His pilot, Hank Bozzi, insists too that the Recs' two-game winning streak will be in danger when these two clubs tangle.

Milton Back Again
Just about all of the regular Giants, Showboat Milton, Pelham, Durant, Mitchell, Hobson, Garvin and the others will be in action Wednesday. Either Davis or a newcomer, Cooper, is slated to get the nod in this tilt. The Giants were originally scheduled to play here in the dedication game.

Meanwhile, the Recreations continue to look around for improved strength. In the last two contests the club has improved steadily. The pitching of Charlie Neff and Al Proia has pepped the locals' view on the season. Bobby Bush, big right hander, is slated to get the call against the Mohawk Giants. Charlie Neff is the logical choice for Friday's tussle with the Brooklyn club.

Friday's Opponent

The Brooklyn Dodger Rookies, a team of promising youngsters seeking future berths in the farm or organizations of the Dodgers, are coached by Artie Dede, one-time catching star of the Dodgers. The Rookies can't start the baseball season until June 10 because the college season doesn't end until that date. Since June 10, the club has won six out of eight. By September the club will have participated in some 60 games.

Paul Runyan Has 35th Golf Tournament Under Control

Two-Time P.G.A. Winner Takes Lead With Good Putting on Cape Cod Course

Osterville, Mass., July 1 (AP)—Paul Runyan, thanks to his paddle-putting, appeared today to have the 35th Massachusetts open golf championship tourney well under control with a two-stroke lead on the star-studded field at the half-way mark of the 72-hole competition at Oyster Harbors.

Runyan, a two-time winner of the P.G.A. title, emerged on top yesterday because his unique style of putting was decidedly effective on the lightning fast greens of this par-72 Cape Cod course.

Wild off the tee during his first round and a bit ragged with his irons on his second, Runyan managed to put together a pair of two-under 70's that gave him a two-stroke lead over the closest of his 104 rivals, Horton Smith, the defending champion, who posted cards of 68 and 74.

Made Many Mistakes
"I made plenty of mistakes on both of my first rounds, but I always managed to wipe them out on the greens," Runyan explained after crashing through as the first day's leader.

Willie Turnesa of Detroit, the 1938 national amateur titlist, shared the 143-bracket with Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Winchester, a three-time winner of this event, and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., who back here in 1932 was the runner up to amateur Francis Ouimet.

Another amateur who made a deep impression was Leo Martin of Trappe, New England sectional champion, whose first 36 holes totaled 144, equaled by the veteran Alex Watson of Yonkers, N. Y.

Among the other low first-day scorers were Al Brosch of Farmingdale, N. Y., with 145.

Mickey Owen Injured as Dodgers Win, Tie Cardinals for Lead

Brooklyn Captures 10th Straight From Phillies by 9 to 2

Pirates Nose Out Cardinals by 4-3; Feller and Tribe Beaten, 12 to 6; Giants Win in 12th

(By The Associated Press)
Even the greatest of men, they say, has his Achilles heel. First of all there was Achilles, the guy who had the heel. Then, there was Samson, a sucker for a barber's chair. Now there's Bob Feller, whose weak spot, it seems, is Sportsman's Park in St. Louis. It's not the Browns who play there who bother him so much, it would appear, since rapid Robert has beaten them twice in achieving his total of 16 victories. But those two triumphs came in Cleveland. By the banks of the Mississippi the fabulous Feller also has pitched against the tail-enders in two games, and each time they have shipped him to the showers.

Browns Stop Feller
The way they did it yesterday was horrible to behold for all but a St. Louis fan, and there were only 1,408 of them in the stands. For six innings the Browns let Feller and the Indians coast along on a 6-3 lead. Then, before Feller or the tribe could recover, they exploded for nine runs and a 12-6 victory that was Feller's first defeat in four starts and made it three straight losses for Cleveland.

That dropped the Indians two full games behind the idle Yankees. The latter, returning to New York today, play a double-header with the Red Sox. If he can get a hit in each contest, Joe DiMaggio, already holding a modern record of connecting safely in 42 straight tilts, will tie Willie Keeler's all-time major league mark of 44 in a row.

Chisox Beat Tigers
With the Eastern half of the circuit taking a day off, the only other American League game yesterday saw the Chicago White Sox knock Schoolboy Rowe out of the box with two runs in the last of the ninth to trim the Detroit Tigers, 7-6. A 14-hit attack that included a home run and single by Joe Kuhel carried John Duncan Rigney to victory No. 5.

Day and night proceedings in the National League left the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers tied for the lead.

The Dodgers, in the afternoon, won their 10th straight from the Phillies, 9-2, with Whitlow Wyatt getting his 12th triumph on a six-hit hurling effort that was marred by two homers.

In the second inning Brooklyn catcher Mickey Owen was dropped by a pitch by John Podgajny which hit him over the left eye and opened a wound that took six stitches.

The Cardinals, at night, were nosed out, 4-3, by the Pittsburgh Pirates as Maurice Van Robays belted a two-run triple in the third inning that settled the issue. The Pirates were out-hit, 12 to 7, but Ken Heintzelman had enough stuff in the pinches to hang on for his third victory against six defeats, and the Bucs' first in eight clashes with St. Louis.

Melton Wins, 3-0
The hard luck that has been dogging the Boston Braves' Manuel Salvo since he beat the Phillies on the second day of the season kept right on his heels. This time it was a fluke double by Johnny Rucker of the New York Giants—a hard grounder that bounced off second-baseman Carrel Rowell's head into centerfield—which drove in two of the three 12th inning runs with which the Terrymen won, 3-0. Cliff Melton pitched six-hit ball for the winners.

In another night encounter the Cincinnati Reds teed off on "Old Man" Charlie Root for five hits and five runs in the first inning and went on to rout the Chicago Cubs, 7-1. Elmer Flick, in spreading the Cubs' seven hits, marked up victory No. 8. He hasn't lost one yet. The only run off him last night came on a four-bagger by Clyde McCullough.

BROOKLYN CATCHER BEANED

Mickey Owen, Brooklyn Dodgers catcher, lies on the ground after being beaned in the second inning of the game with the Phillies in New York. He suffered a cut over the left eye and it took six stitches to close the wound. Umpire Ralph Pinelli tries to comfort the fallen player while Phillies Catcher Bennie Warren (over Owen) looks toward the dugout for aid. Rushing in to lend assistance is John Podgajny, who pitched the ball which struck Owen. The Dodgers won the game, 9-2.

Dodgers Given Six Places On National All-Star Team

15 Members of '40 Squad on Roster; Mell Ott and Billy Herman Picked; Reiser Is Chosen

New York, July 1 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers have been awarded six places on the 25-man National League squad for the all-star game next Tuesday at Detroit, but it appeared today the Dodgers would have only five men ready for duty, for Catcher Mickey Owen was in Caledonian Hospital with a six-stitch cut over his left eye.

Owen was hurt in the second inning of yesterday's contest with the Phillies, when he was hit by a ball pitched by John Podgajny. Illness and injury already had taken two of the original nominees, chosen by Manager Bill McKechnie of the world champion Cincinnati Reds with aid of the other league pilots. Outfielder Joe Medwick of the Dodgers was picked to replace Hank Leiber of the Chicago Cubs, and First Baseman Frank McCormick of the Reds, the league's most valuable player in 1940, to supplant Dolph Camilli of the Dodgers.

Fifteen members of the winning 1940 team are on the roster. Mel Ott of the New York Giants and Billy Herman of the Dodgers have missed only once in the nine-year history of the game.

Four "Rookie" Players
The four all-star "rookies" will be Brooklyn's Pete Reiser, Enos Slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Elliott of Pittsburgh in the outfield, and veteran Pitcher Claude Passeau of the Cubs.

Back of the Dodgers' six men come the Cardinals and Reds, four each; Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York, three each, and Philadelphia and Boston, one each.

The full roster of the National League squad:
Pitchers—Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer, Cincinnati; Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn; Lon Warneke, St. Louis; Carl Hubbell, New York; Cy Blanton, Philadelphia, and Passeau.

Catchers—Al Lopez, Pittsburgh; Harry Danning, New York, and Owen.
Infielders—Johnny Mize, St. Louis; Billy Herman and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn; McCormick and Linus Frey, Cincinnati; Stan Hack, Chicago; Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh, and Eddie Miller, Boston.

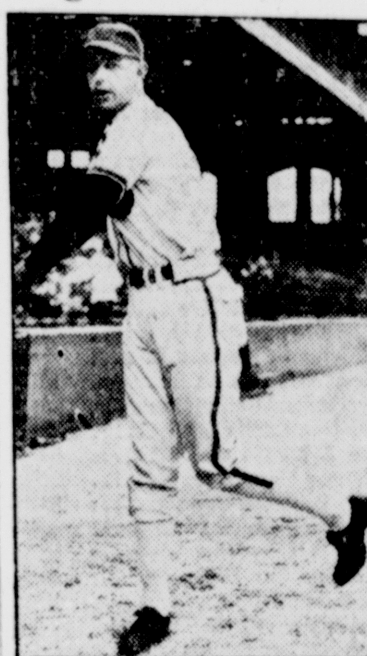

Outfielders—Reiser and Joe Medwick, Brooklyn; Slaughter and Terry Moore, St. Louis; Bill Nicholson, Chicago; Elliott and Ott.

Explosives From Orange Peel
The natural properties of oranges can be utilized for the manufacture of powerful explosives, according to Dr. Walter J. Fischel of the Hebrew university in Palestine.

Orange peel, which contains yeast, alcohol, sugar and acetone, is now the subject of extensive experiment by scientists of the Hebrew university. American scientists are collaborating in the research to make it possible for the orange-peel source to become economically practical.

If a lump of coal can be made to yield thread for sheer stockings, if milk can produce a plastic for automobile bodies, if soy beans will yield varnish, the time will come, Dr. Fischel said, when the sun may give us all the elements of life directly as it does now indirectly.

Might Get Chance

THORNTON LEE

Thornton Lee, veteran southpaw star of the Chicago White Sox, is certain to share in the distinction of hurling for the American League in the All Star game in Detroit on July 8. He ranks next to Bob Feller, Cleveland's fireball ace, among standout pitchers of the circuit. Lee has won eight and lost five. In 14 starts, inclusive of Friday, June 27, Lee has gone the route 13 times. The time he didn't finish was an extraordinary affair with the Yankees May 3. He did go the regulation nine innings, however, retiring with the score tied 5-5. Pete Appleton then went on to lose the game for the Pale Hose.

The American School in Mexico City is trying to stop fakers who have been soliciting funds for the alleged purchase of American football equipment for the school.

Battle for Scalzo

Los Angeles, July 1 (AP)—Richie Lemos, the Mexican thumping bean, goes after Petey Scalzo's N. B. A. featherweight championship tonight in a 10-round battle offering more odd angles than a surrealist's geometric design. The Los Angeles-born Mexican says he'll K O the New York titleholder in six rounds, no more. That despite the fact Scalzo K O'd him in eight frames here recently.

Fritzie Zivic Is Anxious to Get At 'Bummy' Davis Tonight

Fans Haven't Forgotten

Last Zivic-Davis Go.; Will Be Ready to Bood Soldier

New York, July 1 (AP)—Professor

Mike Jacobs is producing "the regeneration of Bummy Davis" at the Polo Grounds tonight, in 12 scenes, with Welterweight Champion Fritzie Zivic helping Bummy see the light. The fight will be broadcast at 10 o'clock over station WOR.

It is in the nature of a homecoming for Bummy, his first appearance in a New York ring since the hectic night last November when he fouled Zivic savagely about a dozen times and then tried to kick the referee, Billy Cavanagh.

The months between have been eventful ones for Bummy. First he was barred for life by the New York Athletic Commission, then he joined the army and went away to Texas to forget, like the fellows in the foreign legion.

Gets Chance Tonight

But the fans could not forget Davis, nor could Promoter Jacobs, or even Zivic, for widely-contrasting reasons. Zivic, though he went on fighting others, didn't have his heart in it. He yearned to get Bummy in the ring with him just ### once more.

Bummy's loyal fans were growing rusty from having nobody to boo. Tonight they probably will set a new American record for outdoor razzberries, eclipsing the mark set some years ago by admirers of Jack Sharkey, the former heavy-weight champion. Bummy already holds the record for indoor unpopularity.

As for Promoter Jacobs, all he knows is that every time he ever used Davis on a card at the Garden the place was packed with cash customers howling for Bummy's scalp. So he became convinced that the life suspension of Bummy was a grave injustice, and here Bummy is back.

Idle for Months

All Davis figures to get from tonight's effort is a painful experience, since his end of the purse goes to the army relief fund. Zivic, much the more clever and experienced fighter, is virtually a unanimous choice to give Bummy a severe licking, particularly as Bummy has not fought for some eight months.

Bummy, in fact, isn't even getting a shot at Zivic's championship. He agreed to come in over the welterweight limit of 147 pounds, and the bout was scheduled for 12 rounds just in case Bummy forgot the first stipulation. A championship bout, to be recognized as such by the local commission, must be slated for 15 rounds.

Five Bodies Found In Casco Bay; 30 Still Are Missing

Picnic-Fishing Party Left Harpswell, Me., for Trip to Monhegan Island 40 Miles Away

Harpswell, Me., July 1 (AP)—The discovery of five bodies—one of them badly burned—led searchers to believe today that all of the 35 members of a picnic party, which set out Sunday on the 44-foot cabin cruiser Don might have perished after fire swept the boat. The tragedy, the worst in the memory of residents of this rocky coast, apparently occurred in the fog-shrouded waters of lower Casco Bay while the party of Rumford, Me., residents was returning from Monhegan Island, 40 miles from here in the open Atlantic.

Carlton Smith, one of the many searchers, said that "undoubtedly" there had been an explosion aboard the heavily loaded Don.

He spoke after bringing ashore a body identified as that of Miss Elizabeth Howard, a Rumford bank employee. She had suffered bad burns on her legs and one hip.

The first five bodies found were those of women. Four of them were identified quickly as those of Miss Howard, Ruth Ruth Hemmingsway, Rumford housekeeper, Miss Bessie Strope, Rumford bank clerk, and Miss Anne Stasulis, also a bank employee.

The bodies were laid out on a rough fish wharf here before being removed to a Brunswick funeral home.

Wrist watches on two of the women had stopped at the same minute—11:40, whether the tragedy had occurred Sunday night, Monday morning or Monday night, authorities were not able to determine immediately.

The Don, with 15 women and 20 men and boys aboard had set out Sunday morning for Monhegan Island. Searchers learned that the boat arrived there and departed again at 3:30 p. m., for what ordinarily would be a four hour run.

Before the boat reached here, however, a dense fog settled over the area.

It was of the type known locally as "dungeon fog" and visibility was zero.

Even today, as a fleet of boats nosed through the rocky waters in search of more bodies or some physical trace of the missing cabin cruiser, Smith reported it was so foggy in lower Casco bay that it was difficult to see more than a few feet.

Whether the Don put in to a harbor or dropped anchor Sunday night to wait out the fog, meeting with accident later, or whether she sank while trying to come immediately to her home landing, was a matter of speculation.

A systematic search started Monday morning. Coast guards and state and shore fisheries wardens began searching for the boat yesterday.

The party—including women and children—set out daily Sunday morning from Dyer's cove, Great Island, on a trip to Monhegan Island, 40 miles distant and about nine miles offshore.

Searchers learned that the boat reached the island on schedule and that it departed at 3:30 p. m. for home—ordinarily a four-hour run.

But when fog settled over the area at midnight, more than four hours after she was due back, she had not been sighted.

HIGHLAND

Highland, July 1—David Chillas of Wilmington, Del., spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Heston Woolsey at the Elms Hotel. He is employed at the great DuPont Powder works there working on defense orders.

Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Haviland Jr., of Tillson avenue are the proud parents of a son born on Saturday at the Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Haviland is the former Rowena Harcourt, daughter of the late Congressman and Mrs. Harcourt.

James Litts is spending some time in Elmira where he is staying with Mr. and Mrs. George Litts. Mr. and Mrs. William H. Maynard have purchased the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Lockwood on Main street. The home was completed about a year ago, but since then Dr. Lockwood has been called for service with the Naval Reserve.

William Sherow of Bridgeport, Conn., spent the week-end here when he attended the wedding of his son, Sherow, and Viola Wood.

Adam Roland and his daughter, Mrs. Leslie Roland, of New Paltz were visitors here on Sunday.

Private Fred Erichsen, who is stationed with the United States forces at Pine Camp, is expected to return to Highland for a week-end leave. Private Erichsen and his company won a citation last week for efficiency in handling their 75mm. guns.

Borden Upright, who is employed in Hartford, Conn., will arrive here Thursday night to spend the holiday and week-end with his mother, Mrs. William Upright.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Terpening left on Monday morning for a week's wedding trip. They will go first to Clayburg in the Adirondacks and from there visit several other points of interest in the northern part of the state.

Coach Burke on Monday took charge of the playground activities on the high school field and will remain on duty for the months of July and August. There will be a complete series of planned games and events including ping-pong, badminton, table tennis, court tennis, scotchball, horseshoes, basketball and table games. The records show that last season and the year before some thousands of persons, children and adults took advantage of the opportunity to use the facilities at the field for recreation.

Charles Osterhout of Kingston visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin E. Osterhout, at the Cedars on Saturday.

The Highland Council of Church Women will meet on Tuesday to sort, prepare and pack articles collected for shipment to the New York war relief centers.

This group is composed of women from all faiths and they have already collected a quantity of tin foil, buttons, candles, and clothing for the relief agencies. They hold collection days each Tuesday in the headquarters of Lloyd Post, American Legion, which is cooperating with the Council in their work.

Leonard Gusch, who for the past three years has held the position of teacher of agriculture at the Red Hook school, has resigned that position to take one at Red Creek in central New York. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gusch, Leonard was a graduate of Highland high school and Cornell University.

Sergeant E. J. Hulse in charge of the state police in this region expects the seasons record traffic this week-end.

Benjamin Franklin Had The Idea Back in 1783

Washington, July 1 (AP)—Parachute troops? Benjamin Franklin had the idea back in 1783.

The command and general staff school military review in its current issue prints the following excerpt from volume 9 of Franklin's writings:

"Five thousand balloons, capable of raising two men each, could not cost more than five ships of the line; and where is the prince who can afford so to cover his country with troops for its defense as that ten thousand men descending from the clouds might not in many places do an infinite deal of mischief before a force could be brought together to repel them?"

Pickets Still Patrol Shops, Despite Heat

The intense heat that has been gripping the city for several days has not broken up the picket line in front of the dress factories of the Country Club Frocks and the Excelsior Manufacturing Company located in the Servicer Building at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue.

The picket line was established early in May, when some of the employees of the two factories struck for union recognition. While picketing has been in force employees have continued at work in both plants.

Five Drivers Arrested For Traffic Violations

Five automobilists were arrested Monday on charges of traffic violations. Saul Friedman of 166 Washington avenue, charged with failing to observe a full stop sign furnished bail for his appearance later.

Edwin Cusack of 199 Main street and Charles Nettis of Schoentag's Hotel, charged with overtime parking, furnished bail for appearance later, as did Daniel H. Valentine of 92 Hurley avenue, charged with parking in a restricted area.

Ignacio Vidal of New York city was charged with passing a red traffic light.

Textile Trading Was at Standstill

Selling Houses and Mills Withdrew on Monday

Commodities Monday continued the decline which started Saturday following announcement of establishment of a price ceiling on six types of cotton textile goods. Trading in the textile market was at a complete standstill. Selling houses and mills withdrew from the market Monday. Some felt the condition might maintain for several weeks because of the confusion in which they had been left by the pricing policies. It was stated that the retroactive feature of the "fixed" schedules would compel mills to revise contracts for over half a billion yards of goods taken at higher prices.

Cottonseed oil, on which the OPACS put a limit, was not traded in Saturday, but Monday broke the limit, 100 points. Cotton was off three to ten points in erratic selling Monday. Silk dropped 3 1/2 to 6 1/2 cents; hides five to eight points; sugar one to three points; coffee 23 to 25 points; cocoa 12 points. Hogs were off 25 to 35 points in Chicago. Wheat did better than most commodities and closed one to 1 1/2 cents higher.

Stocks closed the month of June—the lightest in 21 years—with one of the duller sessions in a month, with volume of only 272,450 shares. There were small price declines. The Dow-Jones industrial average was off 26 point for the day, to 123.14; rails dropped .08, to 28.41 and utilities had a loss of .06 point, to 17.80. Most active stock in the day was Commonwealth & Southern, closing unchanged at 3-8 in turnover of 9,700 shares. Three other active issues—Houston Oil, Ohio Oil and Aviation Corp.—were unchanged. Schenley Dist., Pathe Film and Standard of N. J., had small gains, but the rest of the active stocks had losses for the day, one of them being Borden, off 1-2.

State Banking Department's revised list of securities legal for savings banks, shows a net decrease of par value in the list of $780,353,398, with 93 issues removed from the schedule and 106 others added. Fifty-six railroad issues, aggregating $1,100,802,800, were disqualified. Major additions were in the field of public utility securities.

Austin Macdonald Is Found Guilty of Drunken Driving

Sentence to Be Pronounced Thursday Morning by Judge Flannery; Was Second Offender

Austin Macdonald was found guilty of the charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated as a second offender by the jury which heard the evidence in county court. The case was submitted to the jury shortly before noon and arrived at the verdict in about a half hour after retiring. Sentence will be pronounced by Judge Flannery Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Testimony was closed shortly after the opening of county court this morning in the Austin Macdonald intoxicated driving case which has been on trial this week before County Judge Flannery of Dutchess county. Macdonald is charged as a second offender.

Judge Flannery allowed counsel as much time as they desired for the summations but John W. DeWitt stated that because of the excessive heat his summation would not take up too much time.

Attorneys and jurors worked today without coats as the court room remained extremely hot from the terrific heat of yesterday. Jurors and spectators were costless but Judge Flannery upheld the dignity of the court by appearing in coat.

A prospective report of the grand jury which was to have been received by Justice William H. Murray on Monday afternoon was again postponed because of the fact that Justice Murray was engaged in court in Albany.

Macdonald told the jury Monday afternoon that he may have been intoxicated when picked up by the police at a Grand street tavern some time after the alleged act but that he was not driving the car at O'Reilly street and Broadway at the time he is accused of the act.

Lewis Sharp, city hall custodian, had previously testified he saw Macdonald behind the wheel after the car without lights and minus one license plate, had struck a stop sign at the corner of East O'Reilly street and Broadway.

Macdonald denied having driven the car and said when he was picked up some time after the alleged act, that he had been drinking. Sharp said that he saw Macdonald in the car and after the crash, leave it and enter the Maroon store from where Sharp telephoned the police. He identified Macdonald as the man who left the car and entered the store and also spoke to him following the accident. The driver of the car and a companion then left the scene of the accident and the police searched the locality and finally located Macdonald in a tavern several blocks from the scene.

Three Men Held for Federal Grand Jury

Anthony Minore of South Beach, S. I., Salvatore Adranga of Mt. Kisco, and Frank Morinico of Brooklyn, arrested by federal agents of the Newburgh alcohol tax unit, on Saturday, were held for federal grand jury by U. S. Commissioner Charles de S. Vergne, Monday afternoon. Two of the men were held in $1,500 bail and the third in $1,000. They are still at the Ulster county jail.

The men are charged with possession of an unlicensed still, which the officers say, was located at Sylvan Orchards, on the Hunt road about a mile west of Plattekill. In addition to the 2,000 gallon still the federal agents seized a large quantity of mash and finished product.

Ulster May Not Feel Milk Strike

Kurd said this morning, but just what their effect will be will not be known until later, since checks will come through around August 25.

Much of Ulster county milk goes to plants outside the county, Mr. Kurd said. Much of it, perhaps half of that shipped, goes to plants in Poughkeepsie, Pine Bush, Montgomery, Walden, Bullville and Newburgh.

In the county there are Dairy-men's League plants at Ellenville, where milk is shipped to the plant Accord and Gardiner. Considered in Kyserke. Machinery is now being installed in the plant at New Paltz. A new plant built not long ago at Kerhonkson is idle and it is understood has not been equipped with machinery.

Sheriff A. F. Molyneux said this morning that he was prepared for any emergency that might arise and that he and his deputies were ready to answer any calls for assistance that might come to his office.

The Highland outpost of the state police said this morning that so far no orders had been received by the state police in Ulster county for milk strike duty. It was stated, however, that in some other counties troopers had been called out.

No Disorders Reported

Utica, N. Y., July 1 (AP)—The Dairy Farmers Union, seeking higher milk prices for producers, turned but slowly today the spigot by which it hoped to halt an estimated 4,000,000-quart daily supply to the rich New York city milk marketing area.

Opening of the union's milk holiday, termed "dishonest" by the secretary of the Eastern Producers Milk Cooperative Association, brought no disorders such as characterized a similar stoppage two years ago and the milk flow was declared "nearly normal" in most of the 22 New York counties where the union is represented.

Pickets patrolling some of the 400 receiving plants in behalf of the union's demands for a uniform $3 per hundredweight (47 quarts) as compared to the $1.83 received in May made no effort to stop milk trucks, state troopers said, but warned if the supply continued the milk would be dumped tomorrow.

Beginning of a milk stoppage coincided with effecting of amendments to the federal-state milk marketing agreement, recently approved in a mail referendum, intended to raise prices to dairymen supplying the New York city area.

The amendments, fixing a $2.65 payment for July fluid milk, and $2.88 from August until April 1, 1942, would bring slightly more than $2 for the blended price, union Chairman Holland Foster contended.

The union, claiming 23,000 mem-

SOUTH RONDOUT

South Rondout, July 1—The Hasbrouck Engine Co. will sponsor a dance at the Firehouse on Thursday evening July 3. Will Pardee and Ed Allen former residents of this village and Mr. Amarello, with his steel guitar will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served.

The Rev. F. A. Potter, former pastor of the Methodist Church called in the village on Monday. John Stingle of Connelly Road is ill at his home. Mrs. Ahlers of Kingston and daughter, his sister-in-law and niece are with him.

Miss Anna Fallon is a patient in the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley and daughter, were supper guests on Sunday of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Wesley.

The baked ham supper held at the Methodist Church last Thursday was very successful and the ladies wish to thank all who helped in any way.

Mrs. E. B. Haines and daughter, Mrs. William J. Barbiere, of Haines Falls were callers in the village on Thursday.

Meeting Is Called

M. C. Albright of Athens, head of the Kingston Local of the Ulster-Greene subdivision of the Dairy-men's League, has called a meeting for Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the office of the Ulster County Farm Bureau on John street, to discuss the league's attitude in the milk strike. There are about 45 producers in the Kingston Local.

bers in New York, Vermont and Pennsylvania, declared the $3 blended price was necessary because of cost increases caused by the drought and higher wages for labor.
